The Pharos Project

Pharos is an Integrated Project co-financed by the European Union under the Information Society Technologies Programme (6th Framework Programme).

The Pharos mission is to build an innovative, open, and distributed architecture that enables consumers, businesses and organisations to unlock the values found in audiovisual content. The Project is driven by the Pharos Consortium. It comprises twelve partners from nine different European countries. Together they constitute a cohesive team of international academic excellence and industrial strength, committed to revolutionizing the way in which we think of search. Pharos welcomes also high quality contributions, through The Pharos Federation.

Joining the Pharos Federation

Pharos Federation is a Club of individuals and organizations from relevant fields, including Media and Entertainment, ICT, Research and Public Services, who are interested in project initiatives and goals.

Why joining?

- The Federation members will be recognised as early adopters and, as such, have priority in evaluating the Pharos technologies and exploring the possibilities of the platform.
- The Federation will channel user feedbacks and requirements to the Project, so to create more personalized services that will benefit the members themselves.
- The Federation members will have access to a rich training program on all aspects of the Pharos platform.
- The Federation members can increase their visibility through the Pharos project initiatives and take advantage of professional networking opportunities in the audiovisual search field.

Request to join the Federation can be submitted to the Project Board and the notification will be delivered to the requester within fifteen days.
